5. Colloquium of the final thesis

- Appointment: After submission of the final thesis, an appointment will be arranged between the candidate and the examiners, provided that the written work is graded at least "sufficient". Candidates must reserve a room via UCB-Contact and arrange the necessary technology for their presentation (beamer, PC, etc.). A colloquium before submission of the final thesis or if the written thesis has not been passed is not possible. An appointment is not yet a confirmation that the written work has been passed, but only a preparatory organizational measure. If it is determined that the written work has not been passed, the appointment for the colloquium will be cancelled.
- If candidates or examiners cannot be present in person for valid reasons, this examination can be conducted via online systems of Trier University of Applied Sciences, such as BigBlueButton or Teams, using the special agreement for conducting online oral examinations and with the agreement of all involved participants.
- After permission by the examinees, guests may attend the colloquium without the right to ask questions.
- Important: The colloquium for the final thesis is an examination procedure. If the date is in the new semester (from 1 September start of the winter semester or 1 March start of the summer semester), students must re-register for the next semester even if it is the last examination procedure! The colloquium cannot take place without re-registration to this semester!
